much in love with a fellow I've known for over 13 years. Ollie drinks quite a bit but I have never nagged him about it. I figure it's his stomach, not mine.

I've been asking him when we're going to get married. After 13 years a girl has a right to expect a fellow to get serious. He says he's afraid to marry me because we're related. (His dad's sister married my dad's brother.) He says if he married me people would say he had to marry a relative because a stranger wouldn't have him.

Please, Ann, tell me how I can get this man to be sensible.—JOSIE

Dear Josie: You are first cousins and many states do not permit first cousins to marry.

Aside from this, a drinking man is not my idea of a good marriage prospect. Consider yourself lucky you are not married to him, and look elsewhere. It may be HIS stomach but believe me, it would be YOUR headache.

Confidential to SNOWED: When you get tired of "the greatest thing that ever happened" go home where you belong. If you're lucky, your wife may take you back.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Fleming homemaking students entertained parents and friends at the meeting with a fashion show of clothing which they had made. They also provided and served refreshments.

For his outstanding service to youth, William Evanston, Fleming counsellor, was awarded an Honorary Life Membership. Mrs. Henry Roberts made the presentation.
